

When particles collide together they always react