

At the negative electrode positive ions are reduced by gaining electrons