

Alloys are more useful than pure metals because they are harder.