

What is the method used to detect colouring in food?