

Use your Periodic Table to answer this question.

Write the name of an element which has three electrons in its outer shell.