Ammonia (NH<sub>3</sub>) has strong covalent bonds. It has a boiling point of –33°C. Why is the boiling point low?